Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 22 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Fine and dry with warm sunny spells today.

Today:
After a chilly start, especially in some rural areas, it will be fine and dry, with some good spells of sunshine for many. Feeling warm in the sunshine, with light winds. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Tonight:
A fine end to the day. However, cloud will increase from the northwest overnight to bring some outbreaks of rain in the west, mainly on the hills. A milder night. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Wednesday:
A cloudier day, with some outbreaks of light rain and drizzle at times, mainly in the west and on the hills. Drier, brighter and warmer in the east. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Changeable with rain or showers moving southeast during Thursday. Further showers at first on Friday, probably turning drier and brighter. Largely fine and dry, with sunny spells on Saturday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.